Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Software Engineer position at your company. With my background in web development and experience with modern technologies, I am confident I can contribute effectively to your team.

My skills in JavaScript, TypeScript, and React align well with the requirements of this role. I have successfully delivered multiple projects and enjoy working in collaborative environments.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my experience and passion for technology can benefit your organization.

Thank you for considering my application.

Best regards,
John Doe
